President Taft spoke in the morning session on the needs of uniformity upon the part of states in laws looking to the amelioration of existing conditions. Pinchot spoke in the afternoon, devoting considerable attention to the preservation of natural resources. Other speakers were Seth Low, president of the federation, and Judge Alton Parker, temporary chairman of the conference.

BOSTON, Jan. 17.—The last meeting of the National Child Labor committee's sixth annual conference were held today with a discussion of legislation, home industries and street trades and the use of child labor in canneries and the farming industry. Criticism of child labor in New England, which has been a feature of the meetings continued today and especially in relation to work in the canneries. Former Governor Curtis Guild presented five bills providing for the considered constructive legislation. He will submit these bills to the legislature.

Had Worked for the Local Road Only Three Days Having Been Borrowed From the S. P. at Mina.

G. K. Savage, a brakeman employed by the Tonopah and Goldfield railroad, met his death last evening about 10:30 o'clock by falling from a car beneath the wheels. Savage was riding on the end of an ore car. It was the last car on the train which was backing down near the water tank, below the depot, to couple on to several other empties. The engine was going exceedingly slow as it was feared when the two sections met, the unconnected cars would fall to make the coupling and go on down to the derailling switch.

Conductor J. N. Goss was giving the signals from a bank near the track when he observed Savage's lantern fall down on the inside of the ore car. He suspected that the brakeman had met with an accident and hastily gave the signal to stop. Applying the air the engineer stopped the train before it had proceeded hardly forty feet further. The entire crew instantly joined in the search for Savage, who was found on the track. His body was twitching and after a few convulsive gasps, he passed away. An examination showed that the wheels of the car had passed over the right leg near the thigh and over the left lower limb just above the ankle. The wheels had nearly amputated the limbs which were held only by a few shreds of flesh.

The authorities were summoned and the remains were taken to the depot, where on the arrival of Coroner Atkinson they were taken to the morgue. A search of the effects failed to reveal any trace of relatives or information concerning the deceased. Savage had only been in the employ of the Tonopah and Goldfield line but three days. When the crush of freight taxed the capacity of the local road, owing to the cessation of operations on the Clark route, the local officials asked the Southern Pacific representatives at Mina for a loan of several good railroad men. Among the men obtained was Savage, who has been railroading out of Mina and Sparks for some time. Owing to this fact, his application was not on file in the local office and the authorities will have to await word either from Mina or Sparks before they can secure information as to whether Savage had any relatives. Coroner Atkinson will hold an inquest at 10 o'clock this morning.

Several of the railroad employees stated last evening that Savage had informed them that he was a victim of either fainting spells or fits, and it is presumed he was attacked with one of these when he fell from the car. Owing to the slow rate the train was progressing it was impossible for him to have been jolted from his seat. Strength is added to this belief by the fact that the twitching of the body when picked up, resembled that of a person in an epileptic fit.

ENGLISH ELECTION ASSURES RETURN OF LIBERAL POWER

Unionists Show Gain Which Will be Reduced
When the Returns of Scotland and Wales are Received.

By Associated Press
LONDON, Jan. 17.—At the conclusion of today's polling in the general election the parties stood: Unionists, 92; Liberals, 77; Laborites, 16; nationalists, 13. The net gain of the unionists is 29. The result of the election has practically assured the return of the liberal power with a fair majority, for among the places yet to poll are those of Wales and Scotland, which were always solidly with the liberals. Many of the liberals that were elected with huge majorities in 1906, showed great reductions and many will be sent back to private life. A general view of today's battle bears out the forecast that the north is solid for the government, while the Midlands section, especially the voice of Birmingham, favors the tariff reform. The victory of the unionists at Walsall points to the extension of the influence of Joseph Chamberlain. John Burns of Battersea was returned to parliament by the normal majority of 200. In today's battle he defeated A. Shirley Benn, a unionist by 565 votes. Since this most picturesque fighter of Westminster was sent to the house of commons by the support of workmen and socialists of the district and since he has held positions of increased responsibility he has outgrown the old radical ways. John Burns of today is a different politician from the old John Burns who exhorted the workmen at Trafalgar square to rise against the police. He has become one of the most conservative of liberals. Burns has so far outlived his dictum that

AMBASSADOR FROM BRAZIL DIES IN WASHINGTON

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Senor Joaquin Nabuco, the Brazilian ambassador to Washington, died today at the embassy here. He was sixty years of age. The immediate cause of his death was said to be rupture of an artery in the brain. The ambassador had been in failing health for several months and ten days ago the ailment was diagnosed as arterio-sclerosis. This morning he professed to feel better but was soon overtaken by a sinking spell. When a priest was administering the last rites of the Catholic church, the ambassador passed away. Within an hour after the death President Taft called at the embassy to convey condolences. Nabuco is survived by a wife, two daughters and three sons. If precedents are followed, the body will be conveyed to Brazil by an American warship, as evidence of the esteem in which the ambassador was held by this government. He came to Washington as ambassador from Brazil in May, 1905.

Ballinger Says Charges Were Without Foundation

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Secretary Ballinger tonight issued a lengthy statement in which he declared in vigorous terms, the charges made by Representative Hitchcock before the house committee on expenditures were aimed at the interior department. In regard to appointing a relative, J. B. Ballinger as confidential clerk when he became commissioner of the land office, the secretary said this was because he was not personally acquainted before coming here with any officers and clerks in the land office. He desired to have a confidential clerk in some one whom he knew. He says Judge Wright was removed not to make room for a relative, but because of Wright's age, he being nearly 80, which made him "physically disqualified to perform the duties." The vacancy in the law board was filled by Judge Gray, not by Jack Ballinger.
